Poly Pals: A CENG Mentoring Program
What is Poly Pals?

Poly Pals is a mentorship program that links new Engineering students with current students who act as their mentors.
Mission Statement

“
To increase the academic, social, and professional success of new freshmen and transfer engineering students through the sharing of knowledge and personal experiences.

"
What are the benefits of being a part of Poly Pals?

Leadership
Valuable leadership experience to add to your resume

Involvement
Shows your involvement on campus

Professionalism
Boosting professional development skills and confidence level

Relationships & Support
Developing relationships and connections with other engineers

Giving Back
Having the opportunity to give back to others
What are the expectations of being a mentor?

- Meet consistently with mentee during the academic year
- Attend a training in spring quarter and attend at least 1 scheduled Poly Pal event per quarter
- Be willing to refer mentees to resources on campus
- Be willing to share personal experiences at Cal Poly with your mentee
- Respond to mentee contacts (email/text/phone call)
- Provide consistent feedback to the program
Apply online here if you have additional questions about the program!

- What comes next?
- Apply online here! We will email you when you are accepted into the program.
- Await more information on the spring quarter training.
- Check your email during the summer to see who you are matched with.
- Meet your pal(s) at the Meet ‘n’ Greet event!

Contact Engineering Student Services at eadvise@calpoly.edu if you have any additional questions about the program!